Frightful Case of a Colored Man.

I contracted a fearful case of blood poison in 1883. I was treated by some of the best physicians in Atlanta. They used the old remedies of Mercury and Potash, which brought on rheumatism and impaired my digestive organs. Every joint in me was swollen and full of pain. Every joint in me was swollen and full of pain. When I was given up to die, my physicians thought it would be a good time to test the virtue of Swift's Specific. When I commenced taking S. S. S. the physician said I could not live two weeks under the ordinary treatment. He commenced to give me the medicine strictly according to directions, which continued for several months. I took nothing else, and commenced to improve from the very first. Soon the rheumatism left me, my appetite became all right, and the ulcers, which the doctor said were the most frightful he had ever seen, began to heal, and by the 1st of October, 1884, I was a well man again. I am stronger now than I ever was before, and weigh more. S. S. S. has saved me from an early grave.

Lem McClendon has been in the employ of the Lem McClendon has been in the employ of the hess-Carley Company for some years, and I now the above statements to be true. At the ime he began taking Swift's Specific he was in horrible condition. I regard his cure almost niraculous. W. B. CROSBY, Manager, Chess-Carley Co., Atlanta Division.

THE PRESENT ISSUE IN SAN FRAN-

There is a very strange condition of af fairs in San Francisco regarding the sewer system of that city. On its face it stands thus: An official in charge of the system pality that the sewers in all the low-lying districts are in a frightful condition. A health officer, presumably competent, confirms the report, and declares that the public health is menaced, as do numerous physicians. Estimates are made, and the result is that there are opinions held that from a sum of from $10,000 to $50,000 is needed to cleanse the sewers and put them in proper and safe condition; the larger sum is most urgently pressed. But at this juncture it is discovered that there are no available means with which to defray the expense. A proposition is at once made to go into debt; practically to pledge the credit of the city and put her bonds upon the market, for that must be the result of any exhaustion of the annual revenue. Another party, however, desires to take the needed money out of the street-cleaning fund. The first party proposes the suspension of the one-twelfth restriction, which is equivalent to going into debt, for that provision of the municipal law prohibits the expenditure of more than one twelfth of the annual revenue in any one month of the year, except by unanimous consent of the Supervisors. While the means are under discussion in the city legislature an official of the Health Department examines the sewers and reports that their foul condition has been greatly exaggerated, and that the expenditure of $2,500 or $3,000 a month is all that is needed, and that matters are no worse than they have been all along. At the same time it develops that the report that gave rise to the agitation was made six months ago, but has only recently been brought to light. Contemporaneous with this revelation it comes to the surface that there are a number of parties moving in the matter who have patent appliances for cleansing and keeping the sewers in good condition. The press take sides at once in these issues, and while one part of the Crimes Act so as to lessen the dangers that public influence "whoops up" the "agthat menace female children in England. ony" with suspicious energy and does its On the heels of this public acknowledgbest to frighten the people into immediate ment a London magistrate holds Mr. best to frighten the people into immediate action and large expenditure, another section declares that there is no need for the theorem and the people into immediate action and large expenditure, another section declares that there is no need for the people into immediate action declares that there is no need for the people into immediate action and large expenditure, another section and large expenditure. tion declares that there is no need for made in unearthing the crimes of English wounds. plunging into debt, and that for whatever Turks. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. FALSE PRETENSES .- A few days ago the police were informed that a man named two, which should be charged against the J. G. Gallagher was going around among pitchers as errors. In the sixth inning J. G. Gallagher was going around among the physicians of the city representing himself as the agent of an accident insurance company, located at San Francisco, which stop against his nose, nearly knocking him down, and causing the "claret" to flow in a stream. It was feared that his nose was broken, but fortunately such was not the case. However, he was unable to resume play, and Borehers filled his place during the remainder of the game more company desired to appoint two examining physicians for Sacramento. It was necessary, however, that such physicians should take out poli-cies, at the rate of $8 for an insurance of $5,000, or to receive from $7 to $25 per week in case of accidental injury. He during the remainder of the game. In the eighth inning Mullee made his called upon nearly all the doctors of the city sented that he had been recommend ed by parties in San Francisco and else-where to secure their services, and man-aged to get several of them to take out policies. In order that there should not e too much trouble in case it was ascertained that more than two "examiners" had been retained, he used a name other than his own in some instances, reserving the right to say that there had been a mistake owing to two canvassers operating The officers did not come across him until vesterday morning, when he was met by officer Farren on I street, and identified from the description that had been given. He appeared to have been drinking to access some days before, and told the officer that he desired to swear out a warrant for some man who wanted to kill him. He was locked up for safe-keeping, and it may be that some of the doctors will prosecute him for obtaining money under false preouple of errors. ent business depression has been to make merchants generally exceedingly cautious. They have been doubtful as to Fall and Winter business, and have purchased only in sufficient quantities to cover the barest needs of their trade. Ample proof that this state of affairs really exists is found in the loud complaints of the large wholesalers and manufacturers, and in the various retail stocks themselves, which for the most part present but little that is new. That the season has been fertile in the production of new goods and new styles, none who are posted will deny. Never has there been a season in our remembrance when the new fashions seemed so many and so attractive as this Fall.

But to the point. Notwithstanding the business depression, notwithstanding the general inclination of merchants to be on the "safe side," and notwithstanding that our stock of staples was already large, and in many respects a brilliant - one, we during August and September bought more largely than ever before. In a word, our policy has been the exactly opposite of that of most other retailers, and we have faith that time will prove it to have been a wise one.

The buyer who visits our stores at present, will find in the broad and carefully selected assortments, in the many striking and pretty novelties shown, and in the closely adjusted prices, every temptation to buy. While primarily the object of our business is to sell goods, we are at all times quite as pleased to simply show our various assortments, knowing full well that if the impression made is a favorable one, that when people do wish to purchase they will think of us first.

Hence, we hope all who are interested will drop in and see our new goods, whether they care to buy or

Put it in a nutshell, his points are these: Cholera is not caused by animal germs that get into the blood and feed upon the oxygen, whereby the juice of life is sapped.
"The true cause of cpidemic cholera" he urges, "is a poisonous gas which emanates from the earth previous to, during and after earthquakes and volcanic eruptions, and during the decomposition of masses of animal matter." In pro writer gives case after case. He adds that, as soon as the poisonous gas vanishes the epidemic is sure to end. An important conclusion is that the dreaded disease is not infectious. Use the surest remedy for catarrh-Dr.
